

UNCLE SAM WINS FROM JOHN BULL

VENEZUELAN CONTROVERSY PRACTICALLY SETTLED.

Lord Salisbury Announces That the Matter Will Be Adjusted on the Lines Suggested by the United States—The Situation in Turkey Is Outlined Also.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—In his speech at the annual banquet given by the Lord Mayor of London, at the Guildhall Monday, generally accepted as outlining the policy of the British government, Lord Salisbury, who spoke immediately after a speech delivered by Ambassador Bayard, said in part:

"I thank Mr. Bayard for his presence here tonight and his joining in this historic meeting. By the few words he has uttered he has raised his own plane of observation so high above the mere level of party that, though contrary to our practice to make observations on the internal politics of other states, I may be permitted without impertinence to congratulate him upon the splendid pronouncement which the great people he represents has made in behalf of the principles which lie at the basis of all human society.

"It is rather like paths to turn from that matter to the not very important controversy which his country and ours have had during the recent months. I only do so for the purpose of expressing my belief that the controversy is at an end. In discussions we have had with the United States on behalf of their friends in Venezuela, the question has not been whether there should be arbitration, but whether the arbitration should have unrestricted application, and the solution has come, I think, from the country Mr. Bayard represents, in the suggestion that we should treat the colonial empire just as we treat individuals; that the same lapse of time which protects individuals in civil life from having their title questioned should also protect the English colony from having its title questioned, and where that lapse of time could not be claimed, though there should be an examination of the title, yet all that equity demanded in consideration of such title should be granted. It is a very simple solution, and I believe it is not using unduly sanguine words when I say that I believe it has brought the controversy to an end."

Continuing, Lord Salisbury said that he believed that the people of Great Britain were now virtually unanimous against isolated action as to Turkey, than which a worse course could not be adopted to benefit the Armenians. If it was merely wishing to pursue a course to punish or worry the Turkish government, Great Britain had abundant means of doing so; but if they had a higher wish to rescue the Christian and Moslem people from atrocious misgovernment, they must seek to draw into co-operation as many nations of the world as possible.

The talk of Great Britain's exhibition of incapacity was absurd. Great Britain could not use a great army if she did not have one. The only wise course he saw was an adherence to the European concert. If the European states were willing to act, they had means of action which Great Britain did not possess. If they were unwilling to act, and if they objected to isolated action by Great Britain, there was not only great risk of failing in the undertaking, but the risk of bringing about the frightful horrors of a European war.

It was nonsense to say that Great Britain was humiliated if she could not persuade the other five powers to adopt her particular purpose. Lord Salisbury demurred entirely, he said, from the idea that they were able to bend the counsels and forces of gigantic empires to whatever course Great Britain thought desirable.

He denied that they were acting from selfish principles in not interfering actively in Turkey. They were the trustees of the interests of vast populations, and they would be deeply culpable if those interests were neglected. A general European war might involve territorial changes vitally affecting the nations of Europe. He concluded: "And I may say, in connection with the eastern problem, that we see no cause to abandon the policy hitherto pursued or to relinquish a single acre of the land we now occupy."

Lord Salisbury demurred absolutely to the presumption of the existence of a permanent and necessary antagonism between Russia and Great Britain.

School Money in Michigan.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 10.—The semi-annual apportionment of primary school interest money made Monday distributes $537,637 among the counties of the state, the total number of children of school age being 698,231, and the per capita rate 77 cents.

Stops Receipts of Grain.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 10.—Council Bluffs elevator men say since the advance in railway rates on grain, which went into effect Nov. 2, absolutely no grain has been received for shipment.

Mrs. Castle to Be Set Free.

London, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Walter M. Castle of San Francisco will be released from Wormwood Scrubs prison to-day.

MANY BLAME DULACH.

Loss of the Waukesha Attributed to the Act of Survivor.

Muskegon, Mich., Nov. 10.—The theory that Frank Dulach, the sole survivor of the wreck of the schooner Waukesha, off this port Saturday night, caused the disaster, in connection with his watch partner, by slipping the cable of the main anchor, has caused a sensation here. This view of the case came in dispatches from Chicago, which stated that marine men there were combining to take steps to have him punished for mutiny. Dulach absolutely denies that this action had anything to do with wrecking the vessel. He says at the time it was done her seams had opened, both boats had gone, and the bulwarks were being pounded in by the huge waves. The pumps had been abandoned and the captain was vainly trying by means of oakum to fill up the holes through which the water was pouring. Five bodies have been recovered from the wreck.

Wire Nail Makers Enjoined.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 10.—Judge Baker of the United States District court Monday heard in chambers the suit of Lewis C. Bramkamp of Cincinnati against the members of the American Wire-Nail Manufacturers' association, for a preliminary injunction and $300,000 damages. In his argument for the defense, Mr. Winter declared that the object of the combination was to enhance the price of wire nails, and cited the bill to show that it raised the price from 80 cents to something over $2 per keg. He argued that this was not violation of the Sherman law, whose object was to protect inter-state commerce and traffic, but not to interfere with private contracts within a state. Judge Baker granted a temporary injunction.

Eludes the Kansas Courts.

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 10.—The attorneys for the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railway company took a short turn and transferred to the United States Circuit court the suit brought by the county attorney of Jefferson county to put the railroad in the hands of a receiver under the alien land act. The transfer of the case removes from it the attorneys who instituted it and puts it in the hands of F. B. Dawes, attorney-general of Kansas.

Robbers Take $5,000.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Two young men walked into the jewelry office of Julius Hermann & Co., tenth floor of the Masonic temple, at 3:55 o'clock Monday afternoon, bound the proprietor and a clerk, and walked out with nearly $5,000 worth of set and unset gems and jewelry. The greatest office building on earth was crowded from top to bottom with 4,000 to 5,000 people who knew nothing about the affair until it was all over and the robbers secure from pursuit.

Williams Not an Agent.

Washington, Nov. 10.—The state department officials say that the story published to the effect that Ramon Williams, ex-consul general to Cuba, was sent to Spain as a secret agent of the government to endeavor to secure the consent of the Spanish government to a project to sell the island of Cuba to the insurgents, the United States to guarantee the bonds to be issued in payment therefor, is a pure invention.

Missouri Town Damaged.

Warsaw, Ill., Nov. 10.—A fire visited Alexandria, Mo., opposite Warsaw, at 3 o'clock Monday morning and burned five buildings, with a loss of $8,000; insurance, $4,700. The cause of the fire is unknown, but it is believed that it was set. Mysterious fires, the inroads of the Des Moines river and floods from the Mississippi have almost wiped out of existence what was a thriving and growing city.

Railway Rioters Pardoned.

Washington, Nov. 10.—The president has pardoned W. H. Clune, Isaac Ross and Phillip Stanwood, of California, sentenced Dec. 8, 1894, to pay a fine of $1 and to be confined in Los Angeles county jail eighteen months for conspiracy, the offense being committed in the railway riots at that time general throughout the country.

Allison Z. Mason Arrested.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 10.—Allison Z. Mason, president of the defunct Globe Investment company, has been arrested on an indictment charging him with embezzlement of sums aggregating $10,000. Treasurer J. Lowell Moore of the same company is now serving a three years' sentence on a similar charge.

Goddard Whips "Denver Ed" Smith.

Johannesburg, South African Republic, Nov. 10.—The prize fight between Joe Goddard, the Australian, and "Denver Ed" Smith of the United States resulted in a victory for Goddard in four rounds. At New Orleans, on March 3, 1893, Goddard was whipped by Smith in eighteen rounds.

Will Tender Hanna a Banquet.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 10.—The Union club of this city is to tender M. A. Hanna a testimonial banquet that will be as elaborate as anything heretofore attempted in this city. The banquet will probably be held Nov. 14, and in all likelihood Maj. McKinley will attend.

MR. HANNA DECLINES A CABINET PLACE

HE WOULD NOT ACCEPT AN APPOINTMENT.

Does Not Care to Become One of President McKinley's Official Advisors—Prominent Men Said to Be Slated For Portfolios Under the New Administration—Washington News.

Washington, Nov. 10.—It is now known that Mr. Hanna is not to go into the cabinet. At least it is known that this is his personal determination. Possibly the urgency of thousands who had hoped and expected that he would become one of President-Elect McKinley's advisers may lead him to change his mind, but certainly he is not desirous or even willing now to undertake this new duty.

This leaves the cabinet makers somewhat at sea as to the treasury department. Senator Sherman is spoken of in this connection, but there are those who believe that he is more likely to be chosen for secretary of state. Senator Cullum's name is being mentioned for secretary of the treasury, though it is thought more likely that he would be considered for the interior department. It is generally believed that one gold democrat will be given a place in the cabinet, and that Burke Cochran is more likely to be selected than any other man, probably for the office of attorney general.

Vote of the Keystone State.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 10.—Official returns from a majority of the counties in Pennsylvania and complete returns from those in which the official count has not yet been completed, give McKinley a plurality of 301,606, the vote being: Republican, 726,823; democratic, 425,217. The vote cast for the Palmer and Buckner ticket foots up only to 10,878. There were 19,000 votes for the prohibition ticket, and about 10,000 for the other candidates and "scattering," making a total of 1,191,918 votes in the state for all parties.

May Keep Up the Fight.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 10.—During the last two days some efforts toward uniting the two wings of the democratic party in this state has been made, but nothing has resulted therefrom. The free silver leaders are disposed to respond to the appeal of William J. Bryan to keep up the agitation for free silver. Gold democrats say that as the state democratic organization is employed in keeping alive the silver issue there can be no union between the two factions.

Kentucky's Final Figures.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 10.—The headquarters of both the republican and democratic campaign committees are closed, it being conceded now that on the face of the official returns from 115 of the 119 counties McKinley has carried the state. The official returns from the missing counties will not alter the general result. Chairman Robert figures McKinley's plurality at 41,000. The Courier-Journal figures the plurality at 498, and the Times places it at 578.

Harrison Would Not Accept.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 10.—The talk from the east to the effect that Harrison is to be offered the place at the head of McKinley's cabinet does not surprise politicians of Indiana, but they would be very much surprised if it were accepted. The impression among those closest to General Harrison is that all he desires is to be permitted to pursue his way in peace and continue the literary and legal work that he has laid out for himself.

Quiet Day for McKinley.

Conton, O., Nov. 10.—Maj. McKinley took a brisk walk of a dozen blocks immediately after breakfast Monday morning, and then took a nap for two hours. It was the quietest morning for several months about the McKinley home. Mrs. McKinley was able to join her husband at lunch, about 2 o'clock, and will probably be able to make the trip to Cleveland Wednesday or Thursday.

Gold Democrats to Meet.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 10.—Chairman Cunningham of the National (gold) Democratic state central committee of Missouri has issued a call for a meeting of the committee Friday, Nov. 13, in this city. The call states that this meeting will be convened to determine what shall be the further purpose and action of the committee and of the gold democrats of Missouri.

GOT AWAY TO CUBA IN SPIKE OF ALL

UNITED STATES OFFICIALS OUTWITTED.

Despite the Presence of Three American Gunboats, the Steamer Sails On a Filibustering Expedition—General Weyler Uneasy at Rebel Success—Will Not Lose Command.

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 10.—The steamer Dauntless, which has already landed three expeditions in Cuba, is off again with a large cargo of arms, ammunition, medicines and supplies for the insurgents.

The Dauntless was released from custody Saturday morning by the collector of customs of Fernandina. She at once took on a supply of coal, but not enough to attract attention of the revenue officials. She then went down Nassau sound, where she lay until sundown. Three yawl boats, manned by seven Cubans, each towing two flat boats, boarded the Dauntless at 6 o'clock.

The Three Friends and Kate Spencer joined the Dauntless, and a number of boxes and packages were transferred to her. The steamer, with Capt. John Myers on board, then headed southeast.

The steamers Kate Spencer and Three Friends then returned to St. John's bar, but had hardly gotten inside when the revenue cutter seized the Three Friends on a charge of aiding an expedition against Spain. Lieut. Hilditch of the Boutwell was placed on board and the vessel brought to Jacksonville.

This expedition is the most daring of any yet undertaken, as the Windom, Boutwell and Colfax have been stationed in the St. John's river to prevent any expeditions leaving, and the Raleigh arrived off St. John's bar last night from Key West to watch filibusters.

WORRY THE SPANIARDS.

Thousands of Insurgents Have Entered Matanzas Province.

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 10.—The Spanish authorities in Havana are greatly disturbed because several thousand insurgents from Gomez's army have entered Matanzas province. So serious does Weyler consider the situation that he has withdrawn 6,000 troops from Pinar del Rio and dispatched them into Matanzas to stay the advance.

During the siege and subsequent capture of Quayamara City by the insurgents, the Spaniards lost 260 killed and wounded. Three hundred and seventy Spaniards surrendered to Calixto Garcia, commanding the besieging force. Garcia sent word to Gen. Castellanos that they would be exchanged for Cubans held by the Spaniards.

Weyler Not to Be Replaced.

Madrid, Nov. 10.—The report that Gen. Weyler is to be replaced as captain-general of the island of Cuba is untrue.

TORRENS LAW VOID.

Land Title Act of Illinois Legislature Declared Unconstitutional.

Ottawa, Ill., Nov. 10.—In an opinion filed on Monday in the Supreme court the Torrens land title act of the legislature is held unconstitutional.

The judgment of the County court of Cook county in the quo-warranto case of the people on the relation of state's attorney vs. Samuel B. Chase is reversed and the cause remanded.

Opposed to Cadet Militia.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 10.—The organization of the High School cadets, formed as a result of a spirit of military enthusiasm by the boys, has caused somewhat of a stir in local labor circles, and the Industrial council, Kansas City's central labor body, has appointed a committee to investigate the matter. The fact that the board of education has sanctioned the organization has caused labor leaders generally to think it a step toward increasing the military at the expense of the taxpayers.

American Fighter Wins.

London, Nov. 10.—"Solly" Smith of Los Angeles, Cal., and "Willie" Smith, the feather-weight champion of England, Monday night entered the ring of the National Sporting club of London to box twenty rounds, at 118 pounds, for a purse of $2,500. "Solly" Smith won easily in the eighth round.

May Consider Other Business.

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 10.—There seems to be no question now but that the extra session of the general assembly, for which the call has just been issued by Gov. Drake, will have full power to transact any business which comes before it, whether it is included in the call issued by the governor or not. The state officials are nearly unanimous on the matter. The question is important, for the reason that it has much bearing on the length of the coming session, which is of vital importance to the taxpayers of Iowa.

Demise of Napoleon Sarony.

New York, Nov. 10.—Napoleon Sarony, the photographer, died at his home in this city Monday. Mr. Sarony was 76 years of age, and a native of Quebec. Among his earliest sitters were Peter Cooper, William Cullen Bryant, Henry W. Longfellow, Charlotte Cushman, Forrest and the actor Booth.

FEAR MOB VIOLENCE.

Two Hundred Armed Men Threaten a Lynching at Richmond, Mo.

Richmond, Mo., Nov. 10.—Jesse Winner and Lon Lackey, charged with the murder of Mrs. Eva Winner and her two children near here on the night of Oct. 26, waived preliminary examination Monday and were bound over to wait the action of the grand jury, which convenes in February. After the men were returned to jail an armed mob of 500 men surrounded the jail and demanded the prisoners. Sheriff Holman deputized thirty-five men and made an appeal to the mob to disperse. The crowd waited until dark, when they dispersed, only to form again an hour later. Serious trouble is expected, as an armed body of horsemen, 200 strong, is encamped just north of the city waiting for a signal to make an assault upon the jail and lynch the prisoners.

WEST VIRGINIA TOWN IN ASHES.

Thirty-nine Stores and Dwellings at Spencer Destroyed.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Nov. 10.—The town of Spencer, Roane county, was almost entirely destroyed by fire last night. Thirty-nine stores and dwelling houses were destroyed, many of them with their entire contents. Three or four residents are reported missing. No trace of them can be found. The situation of the town in the wilds of the state makes it difficult to learn the particulars of the calamity. It is possible that many persons have perished. The state asylum is about the only building left standing. During the excitement several patients made their escape to the woods. The total loss is estimated at $200,000.

Attempt to Kill Royalty.

Berlin, Nov. 10.—A dispatch from Lemberg, Austrian Poland, says that the Dziennik Folski of that place announces from St. Petersburg that a train conveying the dowager czarina, the Grand Duchess Olga and the Grand Dukes Michael and Nicholas was suddenly stopped in the open country between Sumbatowo and Michailow owing to the looseness of the screws of the joints of the locomotive. Several officials of the Sumbatowo railroad station, it is stated, are under arrest, as suspicions are entertained that the accident was the result of a conspiracy.

Heavy Failure at Ardmore, I. T.

Ardmore, I. T., Nov. 10.—The large general merchandise house of Munzeshimer & Daube Monday executed a deed of assignment, naming W. A. Ledbetter assignee. The liabilities will exceed $100,000. The assets are considerably in excess of the liabilities, but cannot be definitely stated now. The assignment was brought about by creditors attaching the individual property of M. Munzeshimer.

MR. SAWYER TALKS OF FUTURE PLANS

CONGRESS SHOULD MAKE HASTESLOWLY.

Wisconsin's "Grand Old Man" Outlines His Ideas of What the Legislators Should Do—Henry C. Payne Leaves For New York City—Charge of Blacklisting Made.

Oshkosh, Wis., Nov. 10.—Ex-Senator Sawyer, when asked his views of the probable course of congress, said: "The first duty of congress will be to pass a revenue bill. Until our government takes in money enough to pay its running expenses and something over, we can have no prosperity. And in regulating the tariff I think the time has come for republicans to reconsider the question a little. We want first of all to increase the revenue. That goes without saying; but beyond that we should proceed very cautiously. While we should hold firmly to the great principle of protection, I am inclined to think that the present incidental protection comes from a tariff-for-revenue bill ought to be first secured."

Mr. Payne Goes to New York.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 10.—Henry C. Payne left here for New York Monday to attend to private business, and will consult with Chairman Hanna of the republican national committee on the plans for the future campaign work of the party. Before leaving Mr. Payne said that he had a plan outlined for a permanent literary bureau in Chicago, to furnish material for the party papers of the country, especially the country papers, on the money and tariff questions.

SPANIARDS MASSACRE CUBANS

Soldiers Attack an American Planter and Burn Property.

Key West, Fla., Nov. 10.—Advices received from Havana per steamer Olivette give details of an outrage on an American citizen and the butchery of nineteen non-combatant Cubans, including four women, by Spanish soldiers. The massacre occurred last Thursday near the town of San Jose de las Lajas, Havana province. The Spaniards went to the sugar estate of Frederick L. Craycroft, who came here from Indiana about three years ago. Some of the soldiers entered the house, and in the fight which ensued, Craycroft was struck down by a sword in the hands of an officer. Two terrible gashes were made in his back, and his right arm was nearly severed. The Spaniards looted the house, took $850 in cash and then raided other houses on the estate. They burned eight buildings and shot and killed nineteen inmates, four of whom were women.

FIRE AT CLINTON WILL COST $3,000

TWO BUILDINGS BURNED LAST NIGHT.

John Burts' Hay Barn and Dr. William West's Residence Are Laid Low—The Origin Is a Mystery—Some Other News From About Old Rock.

Clinton had another good sized fire last night.

"How did it catch?" Clinton people would like to know. Two buildings were destroyed and the loss is about $3,000.

The blaze was discovered in John Burts' big barn between 10 and 11 o'clock. In the barn was eighty tons of baled straw and fifteen tons of baled hay. The building and contents were totally destroyed.

From the barn the fire spread to the residence of Dr. William West, a veterinary surgeon, and the residence, too, was destroyed.

Burt's loss will be about $2,000 and West's about $1,000.

The fire department rendered manful service, and by hard work, saved the surrounding buildings. Had the wind been in the other direction, a whole block of houses would have been destroyed.

The origin of the fire is unknown, and there is some talk of fire bugs.

Beloit, Wis., Nov. 9.—Beloit college men are quite jubilant over the state university victory over the Chicago men Saturday. They feel that by this time the big university players should see and acknowledge that Beloit's great playing against the Northwestern and University of Wisconsin was something more than "luck" and "favorable umpiring." Beloit will play the Minnesota university team at Minneapolis and Carlton college at Northfield, Minn., on Monday.

PAID GOLD FOR 355 CASES OF LEAF

G. H. Rumrill Shows Farmers That Gold Has Not "Appreciated."

A local tobacco man gave certain free silver men an object lesson the other day. He bought 355 cases of tobacco and paid for it in gold. George H. Rumrill of this city, is the man who did the buying, and the tobacco was purchased in the vicinity of Magnolia. The distributing of gold in so short a time after McKinley's election, is said to have convinced the farmers, that many of the silver men's claims were fallacies and that gold had not "appreciated" when it would circulate along with the other money of the country.

There are a great many women who feel that they would be willing to pay about $1 a yard for silk for a dress, skirt, or waist, as the case may be. We are prepared for just such situations and are today offering the grandest BLACK SILKS at $1 a yard that were ever offered over any counter.

We show fully 40 pieces in Luxors, Mascots, Armures, Failles, Duches, Gros Grains, Rhadames, &c. This store never contained better values in black silks, and a few moments in their atmosphere will easily prove all we claim, only you'll say we are too mild in our claims; but we always prefer to understate the facts, knowing what the future will bring forth. That very thing has had much to do with the growth of this great business.

26 dozen to retail at 20¢.

Merit

Made and Merit Maintains the confidence of the people in Hood's Sarsaparilla. If a medicine cures you when you are sick; if it cures your neighbors and your friends when they are ailing; if it makes wonderful cures of many diseases everywhere, then beyond any question that medicine possesses merit. That is just the truth about Hood's Sarsaparilla. Prepared by a combination, proportion and process unknown to other medicines, it has curative powers peculiar to itself. We know it possesses great merit because it has

Hood's Sarsaparilla is known to possess merit or the power to cure disease; it is known to be the best building-up medicine on earth; it is known to be honestly advertised, and for these reasons the people buy and take Hood's Sarsaparilla almost to the exclusion of other preparations. THIS DAY IN HISTORY

1468—Martin Luther born; died 1546.
1567—Robert Devereux, earl of Essex, favorite of Queen Elizabeth, born; beheaded 1601.
1759—Frederick Schiller born; died 1805.
1793—The "Festival of Reason" celebrated in the Church of Notre Dame, Paris.1871—Dr. Livingstone, the missing African explorer, found by Stanley. Stanley thus described his meeting with the lost explorer:
"I pushed back the crowds, and, passing from the rear, walked down a living avenue of people until I came in front of the semicircle of Arabs, in front of which stood the white man with the gray beard. As I advanced slowly toward him, I noticed he was pale, looked wearied, had a gray beard, wore a bluish cap with a faded gold braid round it, had on a red sleeve waistcoat and a pair of gray tweed trousers. I would have run to him, only I was a coward in such a mob; would have embraced him, only he being an Englishman, I did not know how he would receive me, so I did what cowardice and false pride suggested was the best thing—walked deliberately to him, took off my hat and said,
"Dr. Livingstone, I presume?" "Yes," said he, with a kind smile, lifting his cap slightly.1894—Theodore R. Davis, war correspondent and author of Harper's Weekly in 1861-5, died at Asbury Park; born 1840.

PLANTED GOOD SEED.

This was a significant sentence in Charles Holt's letter to The Gazette:
"The good seed I helped to sow is bearing glorious fruit."Men of sturdy, unwavering New England honesty long ago prepared the way for the 100,000 majority in Wisconsin gave last week. The lessons they taught by precept and example were noble ones and have not been forgotten. Had Mr. Bryan looked below the surface—had he studied the history of the state—he would have considered Wisconsin just as surely "the enemy's country" as he did Maine or New Hampshire. The work done in Wisconsin from 1840 to 1860 and consecrated in blood in four years of war was not to be undone in two feverish months of volubility.

HENRY C. PAYNE.

Three months spent in abusing Henry Payne, brought Milwaukee around with the solidest republican front she has shown in years. Republicans who were so busy apologizing that they had no time to fight, may find a lesson here.Henry Payne's fault is that he succeeds in whatever he undertakes.
Were he a democrat, he would have his party back of him to the last man.
Being a republican, he is attacked more bitterly from within party lines than from without.Wisconsin democrats would be very glad to see Mr. Payne discredited.
Some day, perhaps, republicans will stop playing into unfriendly hands.The silver cure and not the gold cure occupied the attention of the prohibition party this year. The persecution with which that interesting organization has pulled democratic chestnuts must be very edifying to republicans who were led to support it on high moral grounds a few years ago.Charles E. Cross, with years of experience to recommend him, is being urged for chief clerk of the assembly. People in all parts of the state would be glad to see him appointed, knowing the value of his knowledge of legislative detail.Altgeld, Tillman and Debs—What of them? The populists cant use them, the gold democrats scorn them,
and the silver democrats have repudiated them. They will have to form a free riot party of their own.Prof. Suess, the greatest of Austrian bi-metalists, says Bryan's election would have been a fearful blow to the cause. The trouble was that Bryan's bi-metalism wasn't bi-metallism at all.The only reminder of the Bryan ratio this week was a bet of 16 to 1 that McKinley would have more than 270 electoral votes.Mr. McKinley is a considerate man.
He is willing to keep still and let his friends do the talking.Gold democrats and silver democrats each invite the other to "come home and be forgiven."

SEEK A CRAZY MAN IN COUNTY WOODS

QUEER ACTION OF FRED PUETZ, SCULPTOR.

Applies For Lodging at Several Houses at Midnight, and Then Strays Off Into the Country—Got J. E. Gleason's Horse—Sheriff and Posse Hunt Hunt For Him.

Sheriff Appleby and a posse are scouring Rock county woods, searching for a man who gave his name as Frederick H. Puetz, a sculptor, and claimed Chicago as his home.

Puetz is evidently insane, and his doings, last night, were remarkable. After traveling all over the city, and from the Third ward to the State School for the Blind, he brought up at John Hanlon's farm in the town of La Prairie, this morning. Here he got J. E. Gleason's driving horse, and went down the road as fast as the beast could haul him. The horse was found at the Switzer farm this forenoon, but the man was not located. Searchers are beating the country in that vicinity, and hope to find the man before night. Whether or not Puetz is his name is not quite clear, although he gave that name and left an engraved card at R. W. King's home, at midnight last night.

Asked For Lodgings.
Puetz—if that is his name—gave a number of Third ward people a good scare last night. Frank M. King was sitting up reading at the home of his father, R. W. King, when a rap was heard at the door. Mr. King answered the knock and found Puetz standing on the steps.

"I want to come in and stay all night," Puetz said.

"You cannot come in," Mr. King replied.

"Well, then take good care of my shield," Puetz replied, "for I am a sculptor."

This morning Mr. King found an engraved card in the mail box on the porch. It read:

FREDERICK H. PUETZ, Sculptor.
Studio.

On the back of the card was written, in an irregular hand:

"Please take care of my shield. My name, Illinois. Locate here in town by tomorrow morning, and oblige me. Will return the kindness."

Several other houses were visited by Puetz, and in each instance he talked disconnectedly of being a sculptor.

Went To State School.
Puetz was next heard from at the State School for the Blind, where he also applied for lodging. Superintendent Bliss told him that he could not stay all night, but gave him food, and telephoned for the police. Officers Hogan and Brown answered the call, but when they arrived at the state school, Puetz had left. They learned that he had also visited the home of Mr. Bissell, who lives near the school, and told a disconnected tale concerning himself. The two officers searched the woods, in the vicinity, thoroughly, but did not find Puetz.

From the Bissell home, Puetz had evidently struck out into the country, for early this morning he walked into the yard at John Hanlon's farm in the town of La Prairie. A crew of men were engaged in threshing at Hanlon's and Puetz commanded them "by his shield" to stop. He also told them a rambling story. J. E. Gleason, who lives near the Hanlon place, was sent for, and drove to Hanlon's.

Got Gleason's Horse.
Mr. Gleason talked to Puetz. Puetz said he was a sculptor from Chicago and was looking for his shield.

"Well, we'll go to town," said Mr. Gleason, and Puetz willingly got into the buggy. A gate had to be opened, so Mr. Gleason opened it, and let Puetz drive through. No sooner had the buggy wheels cleared the gate, however, ere Puetz put the whip onto the horse, and went down the road as fast as the spirited animal could haul him. Mr. Gleason got another horse, after some delay, but Puetz was nowhere to be seen. Word was then sent to this city, and Sheriff Appleby and a number of assistants started out. Chief of Police Acheson telephoned to different points in the county, and learned that Puetz had also been at Johnston.

For some hours it was thought that Puetz had made good his escape, and that Mr. Gleason's horse would not be found, but word was sent to town later on, that Puetz had abandoned the animal at the Switzer farm and pushed on afoot.

DID THEY CONSPIRE TO END THE ROW?

INTERESTING POINT IN THE MUNICIPAL COURT.

J. W. Mowers Says That He Has Paid One Fine For Assaulting His Father-in-Law, While the Prosecution Says That Case Will Not "Hold Water."

Does the fact that J. M. Mowers paid a fine and costs before a Clinton justice of the peace, for punching his father-in-law, Henry Dotzenrod, legally clear Mr. Mowers' skirts, so to speak, or was there a "hole in the proceeding?"

Judge Phelps is to decide the question, and several attorneys and witnesses are trying to help him arrive at a conclusion.

Mowers, it will be remembered, assaulted Mr. Dotzenrod on Sept. 24, at his home in the town of Bradford. Then, it is charged, Mowers hastened to Clinton. At that village, J. B. Wells swore out a warrant before Justice Cronkite, charging Mowers with assaulting Dotzenrod. Mowers was convicted on this complaint and fined $1 and costs.

Soon after the fracas, Dotzenrod came to Janesville and swore out a warrant for Mowers on his own behalf, and Mowers was arrested. He set up the defense that he had already been fined for the offense, and could not, therefore, be punished again. The prosecution alleged, however, that the Clinton case would not hold water, charging that Mowers and Wells put their heads together to head off further prosecution.

Mowers demanded a jury trial when the case was called this morning, and a jury, consisting of John Spoon, Henry Tall, A. S. Lee, Sherman Phelps, Ed. Inman and Homer Paul, was secured to try the case.

Justice Cronkite sworn. Justice Cronkite was sworn this afternoon and testified that he knew of no "conspiracy" in the prosecution brought before him. He said he had imposed a fine of $1 because he wanted to inflict a "punishment" but not a hardship, as times had been hard.

"How much would you fine him if times had been good?" asked Attorney Barnes.

"I object," said Attorney Mahoney "because we have not had good times during the past four years."

"Under free silver I presume," the court suggested, "the fine might have might have been larger," whereupon Bailiff Cochrane had to rap for order. The prosecution holds that before a case of this kind is begun, the magistrate should talk with the injured party before issuing a warrant. This was not done, but for the reason, Mowers claims, that Dotzenrod could not be found at the time, although they had looked for him. The case is not likely to end today.

D. B. Barnes, of Delavan, is conducting the prosecution, and Mahoney & Cunningham appear for Mowers.

THE BIG RALLY IS OFF.

Weather Causes The Postponement of The Big Jollification That Had Been Arranged.

The big republican jollification that was to have occurred some days ago, and was postponed because of the storm, has been indefinitely postponed. The committee having the matter in charge had hoped that the snow would disappear, and that the weather would be more favorable, but the chances for "brighter days" seems slim, so the project has been abandoned. The committee collected about $100, which will either be given back to the contributors, or devoted to charitable work, as the people elect.

MORE THAN SUSTAINED ITSELF THIS YEAR.

State Treasurer's Report Shows Over $30,000 Paid to the County During the Last Twelve Months—Increase in the Number of Paupers This Winter.

The county board met this afternoon at 2 o'clock and as its first business considered the report of the state treasurer. The report showed these payments to Rock county between Oct. 1, 1895 and Sept. 30, 1896:

Dec. 12, 1895, To cash, account drainage	$23.36
Feb. 3, 1896, To school fund income	13,111.69
Feb. 12, 1896, To cash for care of chronic insane	12,050.10
June 18, 1896, To cash account school fund income	4,216.26
Total	$30,206.41

A resolution adopted in Outagamie county favoring the salary instead of fee system in the register of deeds office and calling for the paying of all fees to the county was read and referred to committee No. 2. A report will be made tomorrow. Supervisors Bear, Cary and Andrews were made a committee to act with the district attorney in contracting with Sheriff-elect Acheson.

Rev. C. D. Merrill Spoke.

Rev. C. D. Merrill of Beloit, addressed the board on the subject of dependent children. He wanted somebody in the county to certify to the worthiness of cases presented, and Chairman More was placed at the head of such a committee, Superintendent Kenyon and Appleby being named as his associates.

Supervisor Smith, from the special committee to confer with the state board of equalization reported that Rock County's valuation had been reduced $546,421 since 1895 and $1,516,931 since 1894, the state valuation remaining the same—$600,000,000. The appointment of the committee from the Rock county board was declared to be good policy.

Trustee T. S. Merrill, of the county asylum board, reported that the county asylum had cost $14,971.30 during the last year, and the earnings in the way of board money, farm products, state allowance, etc., $17,768.97, an excess of $2,797.67 of earnings over expenditures. The asylum has thus been considerably more than self supporting.

Trustee Merrill reported further that a great increase in the number of paupers to be cared for, might be expected this winter. The fitting of the basement for additional dormitories, was ordered.

HER MIRROR.

Of all the dainty trinkets
On Betty's boudoir shelf
There's one of glass. I think it's A sort of second self.
For once when for a minute
I gazed in it alone
I saw a face within it,
And it was Betty's own.

Some magic, necromancy—
Describe it as you deem
A sentimental fancy
Or a fantasy of dream—
'Twas there, and fresh and pretty
As any face could be,
And I—well, I know Betty;
That's proof enough for me.

I wish I might discover
By some such wizard art
The face of Betty's lover
And satisfy my heart.
If I could get that mirror,
What better could I do?
What queerer might be queerer—
I might get Betty too.

AN ONLY QUARREL.

MY DEAR HARRY—Many thanks for your letter and all the good advice it contains. I know that when a man has got into a thoroughly morbid state a ruthlessly candid lecture is often as good for him as a slap in the face for a hysterical girl. Your motive is truly kind, and I should be ungrateful if I failed to recognize it as such.

You point out that it is now three years since my dear wife's fatal accident, and that, closely as we were united and terrible though the shock must have been, others have had to bear blows as severe and have borne them with pluck and resignation.

My dear Harry, so far as you know the facts, your criticism is perfectly just. But until you know them more fully it is impossible for you to understand my feelings aright. I will relieve my mind by telling you things which have burdened my thoughts during these years and have made it impossible for me to throw off my sadness.

Alice was killed upon the second anniversary of our wedding day. For two years our married life had been, as you are aware, one of unclouded happiness.

What plans we made for that second anniversary! I took three-quarters of an hour to choose a present for Alice, and a great mystery overshadowed the something that she was making for me. Then there were the invitations to our little party in the evening, the great question as to whether we should ask the rector or the doctor—they were not on speaking terms—and the debate on the happiest way of spending the earlier part of the day.

It should be passed in the depths of the country, we both agreed, and after much pondering over the local time tables we settled that the 11 o'clock train should take us to Beechwood, a walk and picnic tete-a-tete amid the summer glories of the forest, tea at the clean little Barleycorn inn, and so home.

So we settled on the eve of our wedding day, and then we had our first and only quarrel.

The circumstances were trifling enough. A letter had come to Alice, asking her to pay a short visit, if I could spare her, to some friends she had known intimately before her marriage, "the day after tomorrow." I suppose I was not in the best of tempers—worried with business, perhaps, and a trifle out of sorts—a bit jealous, too, it may be, for one of the sons of the house had been once a rival.

At any rate, when she produced this letter and told me that she would like to accept the invitation, some evil spirit tempted me to raise objections. I could see the keen disappointment in her face, and that increased my silly petulance and jealousy till I recklessly launched out in diatribes against her friends who had sent the invitation.

She defended them hotly—for Alice was always loyal—and so the day ended in a cold good night, leaving her pained and unhappy, and me—thoroughly ashamed of suspicions I knew to be groundless and of an ill temper I was too proud to confess.

I had a wakeful and restless time that last night. Our disagreement preyed strangely on my mind, and in the dark hours assumed a quite exaggerated importance. You see for us it was a new experience. A "little rift" had divided us for the first time, and I could boast no more that my wife had never heard a harsh or bitter word from me.

In the morning there was still a cloud between us. I knew that I was in the wrong, and yet I would not own it even to myself. Alice gave me one little wistful look, expressive of a timid hope that my mood had changed. I saw that look, and for a moment I felt impelled to fling my arms round her and ask forgiveness. If only I had yielded to that impulse! I gave her one cold kiss. To think that it was the last I ever gave her, living or dead!

While I was dressing my eye fell on the small case containing the bracelet I had bought as a present for my wife. I picked it up, hid it in my pocket, took it down to breakfast and, fool that I was, never gave it to her.

I opened the letters, which were mostly on the business that was worrying me. The rest I pushed irritably away. I opened them afterward, and do you know, Harry, that in one of those parcels was the gift that my wife had been working for weeks to make for me.

We breakfasted almost in silence, but after the meal was over she rose and came softly round the table toward me. Then she put her dear hand on my shoulder so lightly as if she feared to offend, and, bending down, she said pleadingly, "Won't you let me go, Charlie?" And I, or the devil that possessed me, coldly answered, "You may please yourself."

Harry, I don't know what you will think of me when you read all this. You cannot condemn my brutality more than I do myself. Don't judge me too harshly, Harry. I did not know how short would be my opportunity.

Half past 10 came. Our trap drove up to the door. The station was nearly three miles off, and Alice, who generally was waiting for me, did not appear. For a few minutes I stood fuming in the hall, delighted with my rash grievance. Then I shouted, "Alice!"

"Coming!" was returned from the room above, and immediately after my wife hurried down stairs, fastening on her hat as she descended.

Alice got into the trap and took the reins, as usual. I seated myself beside her. The man got up behind, and so we started on that last miserable expedition. Neither of us said much. I looked at her once or twice sideways. Never had she seemed so handsome or in such glowing health, but there was an unnaturally deep flush upon her cheek, and her lips were tightly closed together.

When we reached the station, the train was already in it. I rushed to the booking office, bought our two tickets (I have them now, for they were never used), seized my change and hurried my wife off the platform, reaching the train just as it was beginning to move.

Alice hesitated. "Get in, for goodness sake!" I cried peevishly, opening a carriage door, and then—God forgive me—I gave her a push, and you know what happened next.

My poor wife never spoke again, but as she lay in the waiting room, mutilated and dying, she just opened her eyes and looked at me. Then a sad, sweet smile came over her face, and, raising her arms toward me, as I bent over her in an agony of remorse, she put up her dear face for a kiss, just as she had so often done in happier days.

I stooped down, and then—somehow I could not give her that last kiss. Something held me back—a feeling of utter shame and unworthiness. A shadow of pain crossed her face, the arms fell back, and in a moment the opportunity had passed forever, and our span of wedded life and love had ended—so.

Do you remember that awful inquest, Harry? You were good to me that day, old fellow. No one could have proved himself a truer friend.

You remember that, when I gave my evidence, I said that I tried to assist my wife into the carriage. Well, you know now that I was playing with the truth, and you will probably despise me for it. I almost hoped that there would be a verdict of manslaughter—that I should be sent to prison.

There is only one thing more to tell you. When the accident became known, I received many kind and sympathetic letters from my friends and hers. I hardly read them, for each of them was a fresh stab to me. "If they only knew!" my conscience kept saying to me. She knows. She died cursed by my ill temper, without a parting kiss, and if we meet in another world what will she say to me or I to her?

But there was one letter that arrested my attention and caused me far more pain than all the others put together. It was from the lady whose invitation had caused our fatal quarrel. "Perhaps," it ended, "it may be some comfort to you to keep the inclosed letter from her. I received it after her death—probably the last she ever wrote."

DEAREST MAY—Thank you so very much for your most kind invitation. I should dearly love to come and see you again and have a good talk over old times. But Charlie cannot well spare me just at present, and he is so good and kind to me and so nice about everything that I do not like to be away when he wants me.

We are just off for a jaunt to celebrate our wedding day, and Charlie is calling for me to start. Your loving friend. ALICE.

That is what she was writing while I bullied in the hall. That is what she had written, when she silently listened to my grumbling on the way to the station. Oh, the irony of it all!

Now you can understand, Harry, why it is that I take so long getting over my loss. One thought, and one alone, sometimes arises to comfort me. Perhaps that last movement of hers meant forgiveness, and—perhaps—when her attempt at reconciliation failed, she sent me that letter as a message from beyond the grave.—Odds and Ends.

Not Yellow.

He is a down town lawyer, and he was going to have bound the proofs of his briefs in a certain important case in which he was engaged recently. He has a clerk, a good, plodding sort of a fellow, not one of the kind said to be likely to set the river on fire, but one who can be depended upon.

"John," he said, "go to the printer and see about bindings for these briefs. I am not particular about them except that they must not be yellow. You understand?"

"Yes, sir," said John. "You told the printer to be sure and not have yellow covers on those briefs, did you?" he said as the clerk returned.

"Yes," said John. "I picked them out myself."

The briefs came back neatly bound. As the lawyer examined them an expression of great wrath might have been seen on his face.

"John!" he called. "John, didn't I tell you not to have these briefs bound in yellow?"

"Yes," answered John in a surprised tone. "And I was very particular about it. I picked out a beautiful canary color."—New York Times.

Vesuvius.

Recent reports from Mount Vesuvius say that its eruption is steadily increasing in volume. A broad stream is flowing down north of the Atrio del Cavallo in the direction of the Fosso della Vetrana, and the cone of ashes, with the crater of Vesuvius proper in the center, is visibly growing. The interior plateau which stems the lava flow appears at night all on fire. According to the measurements taken by the engineer of the observatory, the height of the mountain has increased by 100 meters since the present eruption began, while the fiery lake along the Atrio has attained a circumference of 1,500 meters, and the bulk of the lava emitted is estimated at 4,000,000 cubic meters. The magnificent spectacle attracts many sightseers.

His Judgment Was Bad.

Clancy had a dog. It was one of that indefinite combination of breed which had adorned it with the head of a St. Bernard and the tail of a pug; nevertheless, Clancy held the canine in high regard for fighting qualities.

"Shure, an' it's a foine baste, he is!" said Pat. "He don't be mooch to look at, but he can fight. Yis, sorr! He's a donn foine darg at a scrap."

Just then a fussy little black and tan, about one-third the size of Pat's dog, came pertly along, and, jumping at the legs of the mongrel, sent him howling down the street.

"I thought you said your cur was a fighter?" asked the man on the sidewalk.

Pat thought for a moment, then in a confidential tone: "That's roight. He's great at a scrap, but he's a donn bad judge of dargs."

MUNYON'S BICYCLES!

TALKS ON DYSPEPSIA

How to Cure Yourself

In all forms of stomach trouble Munyon's Dyspepsia Cure will promptly cure where there are such symptoms as pain or soreness in the stomach, indigestion or distress after eating, pressure and fullness in the stomach, shortness of breath, poor appetite, coated tongue, sour or bitter raising from the stomach, heartburn, wind on the stomach, constipation, dizziness, faintness and loss of energy.

When these symptoms are associated with biliousness, yellow-coated tongue, nausea, bitter taste in the mouth and salivary skin take Munyon's Liver Cure in alternation with the Dyspepsia Cure an hour apart. Where there is obstinate constipation keep the bowels open once a day by using Munyon's Constipation Cure until they become regular under the effect of the Dyspepsia Cure. When there are troublesome heart symptoms, alternate Munyon's Heart Cure with the Dyspepsia Cure. If there is great nervousness or inability to sleep, alternate Munyon's Nerve Cure with the Dyspepsia Cure. If the blood is poor in quality, alternate Munyon's Blood Cure and Dyspepsia Cure. By this plan of treatment one can eradicate the worst forms of stomach troubles and their complications, and make the cure permanent.

A separate specific for each disease. Sold by all druggists, mostly for 25 cents a bottle. Personal letters to Prof. Munyon, 1505 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa., answered with free medical advice for any disease.

A foul breath is one of the greatest afflictions that a man or woman can have. An affliction not only to themselves, but to those with whom they come in contact. A foul breath is a dreadful discourager of affection. It would probably be more so if people only realized just what bad breath means. Bad breath is one of the symptoms of constipation. Some of the other symptoms are sour stomach, loss of appetite, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, heartburn and distress after eating. These things mean indigestion. They lead to dyspepsia and worse things. They all start with constipation, and constipation is inexcusable because it can be cured—cured easily, quickly and permanently, by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They give to nature just the little help that she needs. There is no case of biliousness, constipation, indigestion, "heart-burn," or any of the rest of the night-mare breeding brood, that these little "Pellets" will not cure. POPULAR TRIMMINGS.

Silk Petticoats Continue In Favor—As Dainty as Ever.

Beaded and jeweled passementerie, with glittering pendants of all sorts, is greatly in vogue. Fringes and drops of jewels are carried over the front of the bodice, and glittering decorations are placed upon the tops of skirts, while the variety of scintillating boleros and corselet pieces is almost unlimited. Jeweled goods in the web are also exceedingly fashionable and are used for evening gowns and bodices. Black net, spangled and beaded with gold, silver, steel and tinted metals, has first place in favor. Black always comes to the front simultaneously with metallic and jewel effects because it forms so admirable a foil. White and colored nets and gauzes may be found, however, by those persons preferring a less striking contrast. Jet is, of course, among the trimmings now in vogue.

Black petticoats very much trimmed with ruffles and lace, are now having their innings, but the fashion of broche or pompadour silk petticoats has not yet subsided. Their trimming consists of white, tinted or black lace and knots of ribbon, besides frills of the silk itself. It is almost too late to speak of colored lawn petticoats adorned with ruffles edged with ivory lace. The coming petticoat is to be of light silk trimmed with very narrow velvet ribbon. This narrow velvet has suddenly sprung into favor without any warning, but it is a simple and comparatively inexpensive sort of trimming, suitable for unpretentious gowns. On challoes narrow velvet or silk ribbon in regular, flat rows is its element, and it is also pretty on house gowns of cashmere or henrietta cloth.

An illustration is given of a costume of Trianon taffeta having a white ground, with stripes of French blue and a flower pattern of roses and foliage. The skirt is plain except for three large bows of blue velvet on each side of the tablier. The bodice opens over a blue velvet plastron, with large revers of white taffeta adorned with Louis Quinze embroidery and bordered with a narrow band of black feather trimming. The close sleeves have small balloons at the top. The hat is of blue velvet, trimmed with the same material, draped by a jeweled ornament and black ostrich plumes.

OUT OF DOOR FASHIONS.

Long Redingotes, Close Sacks, Capes and Accessories.

Some of this winter's capes are made with wattleau plaits; others have coquille arrangements at the back or in front. Berthas, collars, stoles, pelerines, boas and revers of fur serve to additionally vary the appearance of capes, while there are various styles of mantle and redingote of which the cape forms a part.

Long, close fitting redingotes are again fashionable. There are several styles. One shows the usual double breasted form, with large buttons and accessories of fur; another is single breasted, ornamented with brandebourgs and straps or tabs, while a third, more complicated, is bordered with fur around the foot and has a double box plait in front, narrow at the top and wide at the bottom, where it is cut to form coquilles. The top of the plait is concealed by a motif of passementerie.

The straight sack is apparently an established thing, and now that it has been successfully forced upon a reluctant public all sorts of ingenious devices are resorted to to make it dashing and effective. It is more and more trimmed, besides being plaited, gathered and draped in every way that is compatible with the retention of its characteristic form. Velvet, plush or fur form epaulets, borders, bands and dalmatics, darkly contrasting with the light tone of the cloth garment, which is further enriched by beautiful and costly buttons.

Jackets are proportionately shorter than capes. Cloth is the dominating material for them, with applications of soutache, embroidery in relief, galloons and elaborate buttons as the adornment. Revers, collars and cuffs of fur are also employed. Damasse velvets and very thick stuffs compose many jackets, and fur and astrakhan together are seen.

The walking costume illustrated is a long, close fitting redingote of heavy, ribbed black silk. Revers of black velvet descend to the foot in front. The tight sleeves are of silk and the draped sleeve puffs of velvet. There are also short draped fronts of velvet embroidered with jet. The neckband and wristbands are of fur. The toque is of mandarin velvet trimmed with black velvet and white flowers.

Cool Rhodes.

No man in South Africa has been more warmly attached to the British connection or has done half so much to secure for Britain those vast territories to the west and to the north of the Transvaal which were coveted by both the Transvaal republic and by the German empire. But in his political career in Cape Colony, of which he was prime minister from July, 1890, till January, 1896, Mr. Rhodes succeeded in obtaining the support of the Dutch party and labored assiduously to bring about a unity of sentiment and aim between the Dutch and the British elements in the population. The energy and firmness of his character and the grasp of political and economic questions which he has evinced make him the most striking figure among the colonial statesmen of Britain in this generation. He has been deemed by some a less adroit parliamentarian than was the late Sir John Macdonald in Canada, but he is possessed of a far wider outlook and far more conspicuous executive capacity. The ascendancy which these gifts gave him enabled him while extending British influence up to and beyond the Zambesi at the same time to retain the confidence of that Dutch or Afrikaner population which had least national sympathy with what is called an "Imperial British policy."—James Bryce in the Century.

A Borneo Marriage Ceremony.

The marriage ceremony practiced by the people of Borneo is short and simple. Bride and groom are brought before the assembled tribe with great solemnity, and seated side by side. A betelnut is then cut in two by the medicine woman of the tribe, and one-half is given to the bride and the other half to the groom. They begin to chew the nut, and then the old woman, after some sort of incantation, knocks their heads together, and they are declared man and wife.

$800 IN GOLD DROWNS A MAN.

At the burning of a steamboat on the Hudson river many years ago, many of the passengers were drowned. Among the bodies brought up from the bottom of the river by grappling was that of a man known to have been an excellent swimmer. Around his waist was a belt containing nearly $800 in gold. That told the story.

"In old and chronic cases of indigestion (dyspepsia or gastritis—it is all the same) the sufferer develops a great variety of symptoms and often dies—poisoned by the products of his own torpid and inflamed stomach. His food, instead of being digested, and so furnishing strength and physical substance, ferments and putrefies within him. The chief process of life is arrested at a vital point. The more he eats the worse off he is. And yet unless he can be fed he must also perish. People do so die, daily, by thousands, but we doctors seldom have the moral courage to give the cause its true name lest we should be laughed at for our inability to cure so 'simple' a thing as indigestion. Simple? Why, it is the capstone of all complaints—and the mother of most of them."—So writes a famous English physician.

Some of the symptoms alluded to are these: Loss of appetite; distress after eating; heartburn and palpitation; giddiness; foul taste in the mouth; the rising of nauseous acids and gases into the throat; furred tongue; spots before the eyes; unaccountable weariness and fatigue; sluggish circulation; weakness and nervous prostration; constipation or diarrhoea; discolored skin, etc.

The sufferer's friends often advise him to cheer up; to throw off his lethargy and eat freely. Bad advice. He knows better. "No," he answers, "I cannot; my food does me no good." He is right. Food now is gold in the spent swimmer's belt.

Take light nourishment, followed immediately by a dose of the Shaker Digestive Cordial—a new and radical remedy discovered and prepared by the Shakers of Mt. Lebanon, N. Y.—the essence of medicinal herbs and plants cultivated by them alone. Then continue with it. Relieves at once and soon cures. Pleasant to the palate and adapted to all constitutions.

Trial bottles—which prove its merits—at ten cents. For sale by nearly all druggists.
